

Publications – Journals and book chapters

- Mohamed, M., Smith, L., & Ranawaka, D. N. (2021). On Standby? But for How Long? The Impact of COVID 19 Lockdown Measures on the Urban Poor of Sri Lanka. In Global Reflections on COVID 19 and Urban Inequalities (pp. 91-1001). Bristol: Bristol University Press.
- Ranawaka, D. N., & Ranawaka, R. (2020). Exploring Cognitive Functions of Demand through Teachings of Abhidharma. 19th International RAIS Conference on Social Sciences and Humanities (pp. 159-162). Princeton: Research Association for Interdisciplinary Studies.
- Ranawaka, D. N., & Thennakoon, I. (2020). Impact of COVID 19 on Owan Account Workers. Peradeniya International Economics Research Symposium, (pp. 47-51). Peradeniya.
- Ranawaka, D. N. (2019). Gendered Choice of Paid and Unpaid Work in Sri Lanka: Issue of Female Labour Force Participation Revisited. Asia Convening. Hanoi: H.: ĐHKHT.
- Ranawaka, D. N. (2019). International Migration Flows in Sri Lanka: A Cross Sectional Analysis. Peradeniya International Economics Research Symposium, (pp. 100-104). Peradeniya.

Publications – Blogs

- Ranawaka, D. N. (2022) Warning signs: Recognising who is at risk, how they are coping and taking action
- Ranawaka, D. N. (2022) Rising Costs and Rising Risks – the Ripple Effects on the Poor.
- Ranawaka, D. N. (2021) Financing and Managing through COVID lockdowns: A Closer Look at the Lower Income Tiers.
- Kaushalya, T. & Ranawaka, D. N. (2021) Affordability of Food during the COVID 19 Pandemic. Personal blog – economicsforathought@wordpress.com on beahvioural economics and applications of economics on daily encounters

Work in progress

- Impact of Time Use on Female Labour Force Participation in Sri Lanka (Master's thesis)
- Impact of COVID 19 on employment in Sri Lanka (Sothorn Voice)
- Future of Care Work in Sri Lanka (International Labour Organization, finalizing the report)

Unpublished

- Ranawaka, D. N. (2019) Determinants of Reservation Wage among Unemployed in Sri Lanka (Undergraduate dissertation)